Not illustrated. 1905 Excerpt: . and Mrs. P, the one so helpless that he cannot take a step without assistance, the other bent with rheumatism and trembling with feebleness, will surely not have what could be called a meal on Thanksgiving unless some friend provides it. Mrs. Y had twelve cents in her pocket, and lived on black coffee, very weak stuff, for three days, fearing that the insurance man might call and want ten cents due for the week previous. She does odd sewing and mending and gets thirty-five cents for knitting a pair of woollen stockings--long ones, too--and as she is old and her eyes are dim, and the sun cannot strike her window in the rear house because of the gray walls across the narrow yard, it takes a long time to knit these. Mrs. F s daughter earns $6 per week; the rent is $9 per...
